

Donate no longer used cell phones and help take action against domestic violence.

*Drop off your old cell phones, chargers, batteries and accessories in any condition at the Mt. Healthy City Building during business hours.
7700 Perry Street*

About HopeLine

Domestic violence is a national problem that impacts our communities, neighbors, coworkers, friends and family members. We believe our network and technologies - and our people - can be a part of the solution.

Through Hopeline® from Verizon, we connect survivors of domestic violence to vital resources, fund organizations nationwide and protect the environment.

HopeLine provides ways for individuals to take action against domestic violence by donating no-longer-used wireless phones and accessories in any condition from any service provider. Verizon turns these resources into support for domestic violence organizations and programs nationwide.

How HopeLine Contributes

HopeLine collects no-longer used wireless phones, batteries,chargers and accessories in any condition from any service provider to benefit victims and survivors of domestic violence. Wireless phones given to HopeLine are refurbished and recycled in an environmentally-safe way, with proceeds going towards the financial support of domestic violence awareness and prevention initiatives.

By Donating Wireless Phones & Services

Verizon donates wireless phones, complete with service and data, to local domestic violence shelters and non-profit organizations and agencies for use by victims and survivors. These phones serve as a vital link to support services and provide a safe line of communication to family, loved ones and employers.